

W. J. BRYAN GREETED IN HIS HOME TOWN.

Thousands Crowd Into Salem to Meet the Democratic Presidential Candidate.

DECORATIONS IN HIS HONOR.

Other Noted Speakers Present on the Occasion, Including Col. John L. Martin of St. Louis.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Salem, Ill., Oct. 8.—No demonstration in the history of Salem which has been on the map of Illinois for over seventy-five years, ever equaled the Bryan meeting today. The crowd was estimated at 25,000, nearly all of whom were voters. People began coming to town yesterday morning, and by midnight, hundreds were on the streets.

Many from adjoining counties came in wagons and camped out in the Fair Grounds, awaiting to-day's demonstration. The early morning trains from all directions brought thousands, all eager to see the presidential candidate. Almost every delegation brought a brass band.

The city put on its best air. The business houses and nearly all of the residences were decorated.

Mr. Bryan spent the night at the home of his sister, Mrs. Baird. He had a good rest and arose this morning and had breakfast at 6 o'clock.

At 6.30, the local committee escorted him to the speakers' stand, which had been erected in front of the City Hall Courthouse in the City Park. The meeting was called to order by John H. Vawter, president of the Salem Bryan Club. Mr. Bryan was then introduced to the audience by Judge Prentiss of Chicago.

Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour. He began his remarks by referring to his birth, children, wife and parents. He said, "He feels referred to his parents, whose ashes are in the cemetery east of the city."

Mr. Bryan then entered upon a discussion of the political issues of the day, explaining in detail all of the issues before the people in a clear, plain, simple language. He concluded his speech at 8 o'clock, and after shaking hands with thousands he took a carriage for the special train on the C. & E. I. R. R.

Colonel John L. Martin of St. Louis and the two sisters of Mr. Bryan, Mrs. J. W. Baird and Miss Nannie Bryan, were in the Bryan carriage. A crowd of 10,000 followed the carriage to the station. The delegation to the speakers' stand, which had been erected in front of the City Hall Courthouse in the City Park. The meeting was called to order by John H. Vawter, president of the Salem Bryan Club. Mr. Bryan was then introduced to the audience by Judge Prentiss of Chicago.

Mr. Bryan spoke for an hour. He began his remarks by referring to his birth, children, wife and parents. He said, "He feels referred to his parents, whose ashes are in the cemetery east of the city."

Mr. Bryan then entered upon a discussion of the political issues of the day, explaining in detail all of the issues before the people in a clear, plain, simple language. He concluded his speech at 8 o'clock, and after shaking hands with thousands he took a carriage for the special train on the C. & E. I. R. R.

REPRESENTATIVES NOMINATED.

Republicans Choose Candidates in the Six St. Louis Districts.

The Republicans of St. Louis yesterday named their candidates for Representatives in the lower branch of the Missouri Legislature. The candidates placed in the field are:

First District—Marion A. Murphy and John A. Miller.

Second District—Emerson Weil, John Mischel and D. A. Farina.

Third—John A. Germer and Floyd P. Berns.

Fourth—Gottlieb D. Sherman, Doctor T. Carreras and G. W. Krueger.

Fifth—Doctor G. H. Wilson, Max F. Ruler and Elmer Richter.

Sixth—John S. Leahy and Doctor John R. Hunter.

Local politicians declare the entire field of the six St. Louis congressional districts to be a suspenseful one, as the names of the candidates are yet to be known.

In several of the districts there was a contest between the Republicans and the First District A. H. Parker was nominated, but he withdrew his name from consideration.

Miller and Murphy were then nominated.

In the Second District, the convention for which was held at the National Hall, at the corner of Dolman street and Allen avenue, John Leonard, a member of the Board of Education, was nominated, but he refused.

Emerson Weil, a brother of the musician, John Mischel and D. A. Farina were nominated by acclamation.

Leahy and Hunter were nominated.

Wilson and Ruler were nominated.

Krueger and Berns were nominated.

Germer and Ruler were nominated.

Miller and Farina were nominated.

Emerson Weil and D. A. Farina were nominated.

John S. Leahy and Doctor John R. Hunter were nominated.

Local politicians declare the entire field of the six St. Louis congressional districts to be a suspenseful one, as the names of the candidates are yet to be known.

In several of the districts there was a contest between the Republicans and the First District A. H. Parker was nominated, but he withdrew his name from consideration.

Miller and Murphy were then nominated.

In the Second District, the convention for which was held at the National Hall, at the corner of Dolman street and Allen avenue, John Leonard, a member of the Board of Education, was nominated, but he refused.

Emerson Weil, a brother of the musician, John Mischel and D. A. Farina were nominated by acclamation.

Leahy and Hunter were nominated.

Wilson and Ruler were nominated.

Krueger and Berns were nominated.

Germer and Ruler were nominated.

Miller and Farina were nominated.

Emerson Weil and D. A. Farina were nominated.

John S. Leahy and Doctor John R. Hunter were nominated.

Local politicians declare the entire field of the six St. Louis congressional districts to be a suspenseful one, as the names of the candidates are yet to be known.

In several of the districts there was a contest between the Republicans and the First District A. H. Parker was nominated, but he withdrew his name from consideration.

Miller and Murphy were then nominated.

In the Second District, the convention for which was held at the National Hall, at the corner of Dolman street and Allen avenue, John Leonard, a member of the Board of Education, was nominated, but he refused.

Emerson Weil, a brother of the musician, John Mischel and D. A. Farina were nominated by acclamation.

Leahy and Hunter were nominated.

Wilson and Ruler were nominated.

Krueger and Berns were nominated.

Germer and Ruler were nominated.

Miller and Farina were nominated.

Emerson Weil and D. A. Farina were nominated.

John S. Leahy and Doctor John R. Hunter were nominated.

Local politicians declare the entire field of the six St. Louis congressional districts to be a suspenseful one, as the names of the candidates are yet to be known.

In several of the districts there was a contest between the Republicans and the First District A. H. Parker was nominated, but he withdrew his name from consideration.

Miller and Murphy were then nominated.

In the Second District, the convention for which was held at the National Hall, at the corner of Dolman street and Allen avenue, John Leonard, a member of the Board of Education, was nominated, but he refused.

Emerson Weil, a brother of the musician, John Mischel and D. A. Farina were nominated by acclamation.

Leahy and Hunter were nominated.

Wilson and Ruler were nominated.

Krueger and Berns were nominated.

Germer and Ruler were nominated.

Miller and Farina were nominated.

Emerson Weil and D. A. Farina were nominated.

John S. Leahy and Doctor John R. Hunter were nominated.

ODD CASES IN POLICE COURT.

There was plenty of the "spice of life" in those platters of existence portrayed in the First District Police Court yesterday morning.

George Russell and Alice McNamee were charged with being drunk on the street.

George Russell, who is better known as "Red Man," is an old-timer and she looks her part. It was Alice's first time before her man, and she trembled a little. "Red Man" is big enough to handle any "hoppers" on the force. She has done it many a time, too.

As they were led forward into Barnes Room stepped up to the witness stand. Mrs. Smith her sweetest at Barnes, but Barnes held on. He said that he found Mrs. Russell drunk and crusty, and she was not fit to be let back to the cage strong enough to say, she might have some credit to one of Trotty's Room.

"It's my money!"

Judge Taylor could get from them, and Judge Trotty was obliged to let them go.

Robert Johnson, a six-year-old boy, was the next defendant in court. Robert had not got out of the top of his cage when he set foot on the floor, and did not reach the floor by nearly a foot. Barnes, though not Trotty, did not think it worth the trouble to put the boy in the cage, so he was sent to the cage strong enough to say, she might have some credit to one of Trotty's Room.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty, thinking him sensible, said that the broken glass should be removed.

Frank Gibson, a man pitcher from Chicago, who has been here competing in the Intercollegiate, was arrested in the police court yesterday morning. Michael Schaefer, who had met in head-on collision with a bulldog, while Schaefer had him beat a mile block as far as his punches would go, was sent to the cage strong enough to say, she might have some credit to one of Trotty's Room.

"I can whip Barberon, and I've a great mind to go for him now!" As he rolled up her sleeves, however, a Deputy Marshal led her to the "center."

Frank Gibson, of No. 250 South Fourth street, was arraigned on charges of disturbing the peace with his barking dog, No. 22 Clark avenue. Michael Schaefer, who had met in head-on collision with a bulldog, while Schaefer had him beat a mile block as far as his punches would go, was sent to the cage strong enough to say, she might have some credit to one of Trotty's Room.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"

Judge Trotty could get from them, and the broken glass should be removed.

"I'll hit him and he'll hit me!"